Lourdes Defeats Cantius, 57 to 48

With Jim Stofko scoring 24 points, Our Lady of Lourdes High rallied in the second half last night to defeat visiting St. John Cantius, 57-48.

Stofko hit for 11 of his total in the third period as the Crusaders moved into a nine-point lead after trailing by three at halftime. John Wessel and Ed Kustra combined for 22 tallies for the Jayhawks.

Sales Essay Winning Pair From Euclid

Euclid High School has produced two top winners in a Cleveland-area contest.

That coincidence was announced yesterday at the Sales Executives Club's annual essay contest luncheon in Hotel Sheraton - Cleveland. Linda Jean Winkler, 16, and Trevor Guy, 18, were handed $100 checks.

Both live in Euclid, Linda Jean at 21701 Tracy Avenue and Trevor at 20271 Priday Avenue. Their essays will be entered in the national competition sponsored by the National Sales Executives.

Subject was selling as a career.

Linda Jean wrote that, in selling, appearance is most important; that it is necessary to be familiar with competitors and their products and that the more selling experience a person has the less he fears failure.

Trevor wrote that selling requires specialized training and knowledge; that the field has grown so that it is now almost a profession.

Other Winners

Other cash prize winners and their schools:

Kathie Geffine, Bay Village; Sue Vogt, Mayfield; Barbara Katz, Shaker Heights; Elizabeth Ann Gibbs, Lincoln; Mary Lou Byrne, Villa Angela Academy; Margaret Stawicki, Our Lady of Lourdes; Linda Frisch, Ursuline Academy of the Sacred Heart; Richard Sholtis, John Marshall; Paul David Lewis, Charles F. Brush; Bruce Campbell, Mayfield; John Alden, Lakewood; Gerald McLaughlin, Our Lady of Lourdes; Jerry Szabo, John Adams, and Charles M. Pierce, Berea.

The certificate winners were:

Margaret Edmonds and Sue Metzler, Jane Addams; Jeanette Buric, Berea; Linda Rosenberg, Brush; Lucille McNair, East; Gloria Durrah and Mack Brown, Glenville; Nora L. Swalwell, Lakewood; Ramona Argenziano, Magnificat; Joyce Joecken, Nazareth Academy; Fracine Primozic, St. Francis; Janet Kehn and John Wessel, St. John Cantius; Genevieve M. Pesta, St. Michael; Carol Huddleston and William Crawford, South; Mary Lou Byrne, Villa Angela Academy; Judy Jonke and Elmer Holmuk, West Technical; James P. Petruccio, Benedictine, Bruce Tomick, St. Joseph and Jerry Dautel, University Schools.

U16 Jacks opened their preseason with a win over Bob Krosky's Ohio Prospects. The game was quite emotional for both teams. Despite having killed off 32 minutes in penalties including 6 times 5 against 3 as well as having 1 goal called back on Michel Zenone, the Jacks came out on top with a 2 to 1 victory. After the game coach Fritsche said, "It was our first game and we were very sloppy. We need to work on chemistry since we have new players on each line this season. It will make us a better team but it will just take a few more games to get everyone on the same page."

The following night the Jacks U16 played the Jacks Prepost and took a 3 nothing lead on goals from Mike Zenone, Ryan Wessel and Devon Belsito. Those were the only goals scored in the contest. Coach Fritsche said after the game, â€œWe got off to a slow start, but later in the game we started moving the puck well, finding the open man, and we created several quality scoring chances. Our physical game needs to improve, we have the guys to do it, but we just need to start finishing checks. Our goal tending has been solid. Even though they haven't really been tested, they made the saves when called upon, and that is what we expect from them.â€

The team moves on next week to Pittsburgh to play two games against the Predators and one game against the Pittsburgh Selects, as our final preparation for our first NAPHL showcase in Blaine, Minnesota September 13-16.

For Special Class

Achievement Has Its Own Reward

By Ethel Boros

Tomorrow will be a very big day for some 30 youngsters who live in Greater Cleveland. They will appear on a musical program at the Cleveland Public Library at 7:30 p.m. to which the public is invited.

The boys and girls will take part in a dance and musical program, dressed in colorful costumes made by their parents under the guidance of their teacher in dance, Miss Dusti O'Connor, and they will wear make up.

None of this sounds unusual, and it isn't—for normal children. But these youngsters are retarded. They have to make a great effort to do things that come easily to other children.

The program will mark the very first time that such a concert has been given in the Cleveland Public Library.

ACCORDING to Mrs. Manuel Shapiro, a leader in the work of educating brain-damaged children, this concert is the culmination of many years of musical training offered individually to children in county classes for the retarded or by volunteers who are professional musicians.

One of their teachers says the children are eagerly looking forward to the program for "This is the most important thing that has ever happened to them."

The program is sponsored by the library's Judd Fund Division under the supervision of Miss Clara Lucioli, who directs the Hospitals and Institutions Department, and by the Cleveland Music School Settlement.

DUSTI O'CONNOR is one of the volunteers who has contributed importantly to training the youngsters (who want so much to be like other people).

Miss O'Connor, who has a dance studio in Parma, spends her free Friday morning teaching classes for the retarded children at Harper School, 5513 Ira Avenue S.W. She has been doing this for six years.

Other volunteers include:

Klaus Fiedler, German exchange teacher at the Cleveland Music School Settlement, who does volunteer work at Murray Hill School.

Miss Magda-Lynn Kachmar, a full-time voice teacher at the Cleveland Institute of Music, who still manages to find time to sing with the retarded children.

Miss Kate Hooper, a former Peace Corps worker, who works with the youngsters on their singing.

Mrs. Denver Smith, who lives in Bedford but travels to volunteer classes in Harvard and Warner Schools on the southeast side.

Mrs. Clarence Witmer, who spends two mornings a week at Brett School teaching older children.

Mrs. Edward Eichner, music teacher, who works with slightly older children at Murray Hill classes and at the Circle Workshop.

Mrs. Gloria Medoff, wife of Dr. Hert Medoff, who volunteers her services at the singing class at Southgate Pre-Workshop.

And Mrs. George Rosin, professional singer who loves singing with the retarded children. She has also assisted with the program for six years.

Tomorrow is a big day for the volunteers, too.

Can Brunswick school tax pass in view of constant battling?

By Ronald Rutti

In the Brunswick School District, residents are battling briskly among themselves.

The district, one of the 10 largest in Greater Cleveland, suffered its first angry split in 1978 over a 22-day teacher strike. Then the board went divided, and relations crumbled between the board and the administration. The rifts, it seems, are Grand Canyonesque.

Last May the board voted 3-2 to ask Supt. Paul Keaton and two lieutenants to resign. They refused. This month Keaton filed a $220,000 damage suit against Marcia C. Seifert, board president, for statements she made about his job performance.

Before that, the business manager quit a mere five days after he was hired, citing overwhelming business and political obstacles.

Given all this divisiveness, voters are being asked to approve at the Nov. 3 election a hefty one-year 16.34-mill operating levy for the 8,005-pupil system. If it fails, the system will have to obtain a second state loan. It would likely be placed in receivership, putting the State Board of Education in charge of finances for three years. It will be the third try to pass an operating levy in two years.

Voters also have the chance to change dramatically the makeup of the board, with 10 candidates seeking three seats. Included in the field are two of the polarized members, Seifert and Barbara A. MacDougall. MacDougall and Fred Benco are the only members still holding seats from the strike period, and Benco is not running for re-election.

The levy would net $3.6 million. It would pay off a current $1.3 million state loan and erase a projected deficit this year. The bill to residents would be $200 for a $40,000 home, $300 for a $60,000 home and $400 for a $80,000 home.

Even if it passes, board members contend, they will ask voters for more money next year. Some officials have said the request would be for about 12 mills.

ONE OF A SERIES

SUBURBAN ELECTIONS

"Necessary costs are increasing," said Asst. Supt. Roger Stiller. He said the district was at state minimum standards with the elimination of 38 teaching jobs. Supplies were cut 25% and a number of courses shaved. Stiller said residents were paying a lower-than-average per-pupil tax rate, compared to surrounding districts.

"The impact of the loan is an ever-increasing cost in both dollars and the educational program," said board candidate Bruce P. Kole, an Elyria elementary school principal and former Brunswick teacher and administrator. He said money used to pay interest could otherwise be put into the system.

Other candidates wonder if prior squabbling has not already beaten the levy.

"It appears they do not have enough credibility to pass it," said Calvin D. Lackore, 47, a computer systems analyst.

Seifert and MacDougall contend the differences are caused by styles and priorities.

Seifert has changed her thinking markedly on school matters since appointment to the board three years ago, after heading a pro-board committee during the strike. Seifert said she lost confidence in administrative recommendations.

"We have a good system and the potential for a dynamic system. Effective management is our problem," Seifert said.

During the move to oust Keaton, MacDougall said she refused to go along and get involved in personal and political vendettas. She is disturbed the board announced further cuts in pupil busing and elimination of extracurricular activities if the levy should fail.

"We should not be threatening. They (other members) are trying to rip the community apart again. I'm aghast," MacDougall said.

In the 1979 board elections, the teachers' union, Brunswick Education Association, backed the two eventual winners. They are the members who have joined Seifert to pressure the administration. This time, BEA supports four candidates, Richard J. Dolby, Janice L. Grabowski, Kathy Dome Minarik — and Seifert.

Dolby, 59, is on disability retirement from General Motors Corp. He was active in union activities. Dolby said he planned to open lines of communication between administration and teachers.

Grabowski, 32, a housewife, was on a citizens' advisory committee that recommended the levy. She said the board must communicate and compromise, "then be willing to accept the decision and back it as a unit."

Minarik, 29, teaches in Parma schools. She said the board needed a person with an education background. She criticized members for creating innuendos in the Keaton-ouster move, but contended the administration was not carrying out board directives and should be replaced.

Other candidates include Donald G. Moll, Robert L. Perry and Kathleen Flores.

Moll, 39, was appointed to the board the same time as Seifert, but lost in the 1979 election. He is a field representative for the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. He said the board had forgotten its function.

"It is there to set policy, then let the administration take over," he said.

Perry, 48, a building superintendent, said teachers were the system's best resource and should be allowed to provide input.

Flores, 37, a housewife, said she had doubts whether board members knew what is going on in the schools.

MEDINA COUNTY ELECTION RESULTS

Stanley A. Umpleby, 44, a businessman and former councilman was elected mayor of Brunswick, defeating his opponent, Walter J. Bukszar, by a wide margin.

The final vote was 3,932 for Umpleby and 2,780 for Bukszar.

During the campaign, both men said they wanted to bring more industry to the city. Umpleby, a two-term councilman, owns an insurance business in Brunswick and is a retired state highway patrolman.

One way to bring business to the city, he said during the campaign, was to promote the city. He said the mayor's job should be more public relations oriented.

Umpleby also supported a recreation complex, a full-time city planner, the orderly development of the industrial park and the widening of Ohio 303.

Voters also approved a rezoning change that will allow a skating rink to be operated in an industrial park. However, the issue became contested when it was learned that CBS Mfg. Corp. also located in the industrial park, uses asbestos.

City officials and residents were concerned because asbestos has been linked to lung diseases. Asbestos is used in a tire-sealant formula by the company.

Voters nix 11 school levies, pass money issues in 4 areas

By Janet Kolodzy

Voters, ignoring the pleas of school officials in Brunswick, Euclid and nine other Greater Cleveland districts yesterday, were rejecting proposed tax renewals or increases. Money issues were passing in four other districts.

The rejections came as school systems attempted to stave off the ravages of inflation and to replace funds lost because of cutbacks in federal and state aid to education.

Money issues were going down in Willoughby-Eastlake, Painesville, Madison, Highland, Lorain, Chardon, Buckeye, Columbia and Strongsville.

Tax issues were passing in the Cardinal, Sheffield-Sheffield Lake, Newbury and Kirtland districts.

In the Brunswick district, officials sought passage of a mammoth 16.34-mill levy to prevent the state from taking over the debt-ridden system.

In Euclid, school officials were trying without success for the second time in two months to get voters to approve a 5.9-mill levy. Officials there contended defeat would plunge the system almost $7 million into debt by 1983.

Columbia school officials in Lorain County said they needed approval of an 11.2635-mill tax increase for the next two years to help the district avoid the need for a state loan. Columbia was among about 20 Ohio school districts whose state loan applications were pending the results of levy votes.

Across the state, about 180 districts had tax increases on the ballot and 40 others asked voters to approve renewals.

The Brunswick district may have to apply for a second state loan and may go into state receivership for the next three years. Voters were rejecting the emergency one-year tax increase. The money from the levy would have paid off a $1.3-million loan from the state and would have offset an impending deficit.

The Brunswick system has been plagued by divisiveness between the board and the administration. Supt. Paul Keaton and two other administrators were asked by the board last May to resign. Keaton has filed a $220,000 damage suit against Board President Marcia C. Siefert, who was defeated.

Voters placed newcomers Janice L. Grabowski and Kathy Minarik on the school board. Donald G. Moll was re-elected.

Euclid voters defeated a tax increase that would have generated $2.4 million annually to maintain the level of operation of the district's programs.

Unlike Euclid, the Columbia district was operating in the red. Defeat of the millage increase, the second in about three months, means the district will have a $212,000 deficit by Dec. 30.

In one of the more hotly contested school board races in Greater Cleveland, Berea's three incumbent school board members brushed off the challenge of a slate of three candidates who had accused the board of advocating sex and drug use through educational programs.

School levy will go to Brunswick vote

By Ronald Rutti

After weathering a storm of complaints for three hours about curtailed busing in the district, the Brunswick school board decided to put an 8.625-mill operating levy on the March 23 ballot.

The board hopes to raise $2 million in each of the three years the levy would run. Voters have turned down requests for additional money four times since 1980.

Two of the five board members voted at the Wednesday night meeting against putting the levy on the ballot.

The dissenters contended the millage request was too high.

"When people say they can't afford it, how can we ask for that much money," said member Janice L. Grabowski. "I understand what's best for us, but what's best for the people we represent?"

Member Mary Ann Furin said the board could have reduced the millage required by not aiming to restore all recent cuts. "We could have prioritized," Furin said. But she vowed to campaign for the levy.

Many of the 130 at the meeting often applauded each other for oral attacks on the board. In the early going, the meeting was so tense that two speakers hurried from the room after emotional appeals. One of the men implored briefly for support of the board.

In its latest round of cuts, the board decided in November to cut $1.5 million in spending. Included were elimination of extracurriculars, limiting busing for kindergarteners through eighth graders to those living two miles or more from their schools and stopping all busing for high school pupils, including those that attend vocational school. The busing cuts take effect Jan. 24.

The board is repaying a $1.3 million state loan as well as an $812,000 commercial loan. J. Christopher Landers, school treasurer, said because of the cutbacks, the loans would be paid back by June 30.

John Boyer, the superintendent, pledged Wednesday there would be no further deficit spending in the district.

If the levy passed, the owner of a $50,000 home would pay an additional $130 a year in taxes. For a $70,000 home the tax hike would be $181, and for a $90,000 home the tax would be an added $232 a year.

Boyer said the money would go toward restoring all cuts made since the beginning of the school year and toward improvements in some educational areas.

Medina career center board approves 3% raises

The Medina County Career Center Board of Education yesterday approved a 3% across-the-board pay increase for teachers, non-certified employees and administrators other than the superintendent and the treasurer. The vote was 6-1, with two members absent, and board member Janice Grabowski of Brunswick the lone dissenter. "I know the money is there for these raises this year, but we don't know if it will be there for next year," she said yesterday. The board also approved a $6.68 million budget for the fiscal year ending June 1992.

Description:
This database contains more than 3 million marriages in Ohio between 1970 and 2007. The records from 1971 aren't included because they aren't available from the Ohio Office of Vital Statistics. This is a collection of abstracts that were created with limited information for filing purposes. The information can then be used to find the marriage certificates at the individual county probate courts. The records contain the name of bride/groom, birth year, county of residence, county of license and marriage date.

Description:
This database contains more than 3 million marriages in Ohio between 1970 and 2007. The records from 1971 aren't included because they aren't available from the Ohio Office of Vital Statistics. This is a collection of abstracts that were created with limited information for filing purposes. The information can then be used to find the marriage certificates at the individual county probate courts. The records contain the name of bride/groom, birth year, county of residence, county of license and marriage date.
